

SAY!

(By CHARLES J. ARNOLD)

THIS PREACHER GOT ALL "STUCK UP"

A preacher down in Evansville, got himself in a hole by doing just what preachers do—he stopped to cleanse a sole. Some chewing gum—the sticky kind—he got upon his shoe. While driving in his limousine—so what else could he do. But stop his car right in the street; get out and scrape it off. But at stopping cars in traffic, the policemen do not scold.

Now the preacher tells this story, in describing the affair. As he walked up to the sidewalk, a lady friend was passing there. So, of course, he had to greet her; had to "pass the time of day" (In the meantime traffic jammed up to the officer's dismay). After scraping off the chewing gum, he went back to his car. Where, awaiting him quite angry, was a man behind a star.

"Say, man, what's the big idea," said the blue coat traffic cop. "Tying up this down down traffic—as a drive you're a flop!"

To the Judge he told his story; thought with him, the judge was through.

Turned around to leave the court room; Judge into a fury flew. "Look him up," was the court's order; of his conduct I'm not fond. So behind the bars they kept him, 'till some friends went on his bond.

THE BIG FELLOW FINALLY MET HIS WATERLOO

Just why they are keeping it a secret from me, I do not know, but I have not been officially notified of the catch of a 26 pound catfish by a bunch of Fillmore fishermen at the 11 o'clock hole in Eel River, earlier in the week. The 11 o'clock hole is about midway between the two falls, near the Fillmore fishermen's cabin, and the big fish, I understand, was caught on a trot-line. As evidence of many battles against fishermen the big fellow had eight hooks in his mouth and was carrying along one of them a piece of fishing line, 16 feet long. Just who landed the big fish I have not been able to ascertain further than it was a Fillmore fellow.

Speaking of the weather, that rain yesterday, last night and today, certainly will spoil a lot of "nubbins."

Look out, folks, my old friend Doc Moser, Grants Pass, Oregon, has steamed through with a broadside, which is well worthy of reproduction. It just came this morning, too late for today, but it will appear "in person" at no late date. And when "Doc" broadsides, he broadsides.

Those big luscious peaches in the "Peachy" Peach orchard are beginning to blush for shame at the way they have been treating me for the past several years. But I have forgiven and will try to forget if something damaging does not happen between now and picking time, which is "just around the corner."

CARS COLLIDE ON NATIONAL

Two Indianapolis cars sideswiped on a curve, one mile east of Manhattan on the National Road, last evening, with damage to both cars, but no one was hurt. In one car was Nellie F. Dunn, 1935 Prospect street, Carrie Tanner, 1056 Villa avenue, and Marion Dunn, Otis Dunn and Mrs. J. R. Russell, all of Indianapolis. In the other car was John F. Sullivan, 535 east Drive Woodruff, and another man, both of Indianapolis. Both cars were Chevrolets.

The women had left Indianapolis late Friday enroute to Oklahoma while the men were eastbound on the National Road. It was said the eastbound car failed to make the curve and ploughed into the new Chevrolet car occupied by the women tearing off a fender and doing other damage. The car occupied by the women was towed to the Tribby garage for repairs.

GIRL, 13, DROWNS; RESCUE EFFORT OF MOTHER FAILS

BRAZIL, Ind., Aug. 2.—Ruby Voight, 13 years old, was drowned today when she stepped off in a deep hole while wading in Eel river south of the city. The frantic mother seeing her daughter disappear under the water rushed into the deep hole and weighted down by her clothes also sank. The mother was pulled to safety by W. L. Howard, who was with the camping party, but the girl's body was not recovered until too late to revive her.

INTERURBAN HITS BUICK; NO DAMAGE

MRS. EARL TAYLOR STALLS AUTOMOBILE ON TRACTION TRACKS—MACHINE IS HIT GLANCING BLOW

Mrs. Earl Taylor, driving a Buick coupe, and Charles Wendell, accompanying her, had a narrow escape when their machine was hit by the westbound Highlander on the Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern Traction Company, at the first crossing west of Big Walnut Creek, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Taylor had stalled the Buick on the crossing but fortunately for the occupants, the traction car had slowed down to fifteen miles an hour when it hit the stalled auto. Only the front end of the Buick was touched, the traction car pushing it out of the way, and barely denting a fender and bumper.

Had the traction car been traveling at its usual speed a bad accident might have resulted. As it was very little damage was done. Motorman White of Indianapolis was in charge of the Interurban car. The Highlander leaves here at 4:37 o'clock in the afternoon.

Commander Eckener Communicating With Shore Stations Only Occasionally — Believed Nearing American Shore

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Ger., Aug. 3.—The Graf Zeppelin today was laying a direct course over the Atlantic ocean for New York.

The Zeppelin works received the following radiogram from the Graf at 3:50 p. m. (10:50 a. m. New York daylight saving time).

"Our position at 9 a. m., Greenwich mean time, was 36:20 north latitude and 37:20 west longitude. Everything is in the best of order. The weather is splendid. The Graf is having a fine trip. The course is directly for New York."

LAKEHURST, N. J., Aug. 3.—(INS)—The Graf Zeppelin passed Santa Maria Island, at the southeastern extremity of the Azores group, at 9 o'clock last night, Greenwich mean time or 4 p. m., Eastern Standard time, according to information received at 7:30 a. m. today from the chief of naval operations at Washington, D. C., the radiogram had been received by the Navy Department, via the radio corporation of America and merely stated that the Graf had passed Santa Maria Island.

By International News Service
Maintaining steady progress on her epic flight across the Atlantic, the mammoth dirigible Graf Zeppelin today was believed well past the halfway mark over the turbulent ocean expanse, heading swiftly for Lakehurst, N. J., first stop on her flight around the world.

While no news word has been received from the dirigible up to 6:00 a. m. New York Daylight saving time since the Graf reported herself ninety miles south of Pico, in the Azores at 8:05 P. M. yesterday, it was assumed that all was well and that the dirigible was proceeding speedily toward her destination.

Unless adverse winds of exceptional force were encountered after passing the Azores, the Zeppelin and its complement of eighteen passengers, crew of forty-nine and a stowaway, should now be well on the "American" side of the Atlantic, riding steadily toward her goal.

When he approaches closer to the American shore, Dr. Eckener intends to communicate with the United States Navy at intervals of four hours. He has been instructed by the Zeppelin headquarters at Friedrichshafen, Germany, where the flight started at 10:29 p. m. New York time Wednesday, to send wireless messages describing the dirigible's progress more frequently.

Dr. Eckener has always been loath to spend too much time in sending out wireless reports of his progress, and in spite of the fact that he promised his superiors to radio more frequently on this voyage, he is apparently running the trip as he thinks best, and communicating with shore wireless stations only when he considers it advantageous to do so.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(INS)—Wireless operators at the Naval Radio Station at Arlington were standing by this morning for another communication from the Graf Zeppelin. The station established communication with the dirigible for the first time at 7:05 P. M. (E. S. T.) last night when the following message was received:

VIEWS RAILROADS AS FARM AIDS

L. A. MARTINSVILLE YOUNG MEN IN DANVILLE JAIL

TAKEN IN CUSTODY AFTER TRYING TO HOLD UP LEITZMAN FILLING STATION ON NATIONAL ROAD—STATION OWNER PUT UP FIGHT

Four Martinsville young men are being held in jail at Danville awaiting the filing of charges against them for an attempt to hold up the Leitzman filling station one and one-half miles south of Clayton on the National road about eleven o'clock Thursday night. The young men are Kenneth Bailey, Herschel Johnson, Henry Christmore and William Taylor.

According to reports Bailey first appeared at the filling station with a sawed-off shot gun and when he attempted to hold up Mr. Leitzman, the proprietor, the latter drew a revolver and fired. After several shots were fired Mr. Leitzman took Bailey into custody and then called the Hendricks county sheriff at Danville who took charge of the prisoner.

Meantime an auto with three men in it was observed moving up and down the road near the filling station. Mr. Leitzman and his wife got into their car and gave chase. After chasing them for about three miles to the south they overtook the car and forced it off the road into the ditch. Mr. Leitzman then took the occupants into custody. DRUG ADDICTS HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR RECENT OUTBREAK AT LEAVENWORTH FEDERAL PRISON

MOVEMENT HAS BACKERS

Legislation Providing For Removal Of All Narcotic Addicts May Be Proposed

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Legislation providing for removal of all narcotic addicts from the present federal prisons to special institutions will be proposed in a sweeping reorganization of the federal prison system as an aftermath of the Leavenworth riot.

With reports to Sanford Bates, superintendent of Federal prisons, indicating that "dope addicts whose already shaken nervous systems were demoralized by extreme heat were primarily responsible for the riot, backers of the separation movement planned to carry on their campaign in Congress with renewed energy.

Although Congress has authorized the building of "dope farms" these will be insufficient to relieve the already overcrowded federal prisons of all of the drug addicts, it was said by prison officials. It has been estimated that 30 percent of the 8,475 prisoners in the three largest Federal prisons are victims of the drug habit.

Legislation is already being prepared by the department of Justice for presentation to Congress in December to relieve overcrowding, not only in the prisons but in jails which temporarily house Federal prisoners.

Building of new "dope farms," new prisons, extension of the probation system, and establishment of further industries to provide work for convicts may be proposed.

DOWNS VIEWS RAILROAD AS BIG FARM AIDS

HAVE RAISED NATION'S HEALTH AND LIVING STANDARDS TO PRESENT HIGH STANDARDS—IS FORMER GREENCASTLE MAN

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—By transporting annually one carload of perishable foodstuffs for every seventy-five persons in the country, the railroads have raised the nation's health and living conditions to the present high standards, President L. A. Downs of the Illinois Central system yesterday declared.

"Not only has railway service benefited consumers, but it has proved the most practical kind of farm relief," said Mr. Downs. "It has increased the farmer's sources of income by enabling him to grow crops that otherwise he could not market. It has obtained for home better prices, since crops can be shipped to most favorable markets regardless of the distance."

Mr. Downs pointed out that railroads have made fresh vegetables once used in the region where grown and only in season, year-round articles of diet everywhere. Other food stuffs, once rarely seen, are now carried rapidly great distances and consumed universally.

SNOOK POSED AS SALESMAN WOMAN ALLEGES

PROPRIETOR OF BOARDING HOUSE IDENTIFIES SNOOK AS SALT SALESMAN WHO RENTED LOVE NEST FOR MISS THEORA HIX

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
COURTROOM, Columbus, O., Aug. 3.—Dr. James H. Snook, dignified college professor, posed as "Howard Snook, salt salesman of Newark, Ohio" when he rented a "love nest" for Miss Theora Hix, the pretty young coed, for whose murder he is on trial for his life. This testimony was given today by Mrs. Margaret Smalley, proprietor of an apartment house.

Mrs. Smalley, a middle-aged woman attired in black and white checked dress and a black hat, repeatedly referred to the defendant as "Howard Snook". She was asked to identify Snook.

"There he is," she said, pointing to Dr. Snook who was loitering comfortably in a gaudy-colored beach chair which has been provided for him because he has been indisposed. He regarded her indolently as she identified him, his "poker face" remaining inscrutable.

INVESTIGATORS MAKE REPORT IN BONO MINE RIOT

PLAN TO EXTRADITE ILLINOIS RIOTERS AS SOON AS LICENSE NUMBERS REVEAL NAMES OF OWNERS

LAW OFFICERS ARE DORMANT

Union Officials Seek to Have Bono Coal Miners Drop Charges Against Rioters

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., August 3.—(INS)—Threats have been made that if a single one of the arrested 58 rioters of the Bono Coal Mine outrage at Dana, Indiana, on June 28th when 42 cooperative miners were slugged by a mob 1,500 men from all parts of Southern Indiana and Illinois is sent to jail "there will be another Herrin massacre." George W. Hufsmith and Merle M. Wall, deputy attorney general sent to Vermillion County to assist in the probe of the riot reported to Attorney General James M. Ogden here today.

Hufsmith also announced that as soon as the Secretary of state of Illinois reported the names of the Illinois owners of the automobiles in the mob, whose license numbers have been obtained, he would start extradition proceedings to have these men believed to be from Herrin, Illinois returned to Newport, Ind., for trial.

Attorney General Ogden after hearing of the massacre threats declared that he would "see to it that no Herrin massacre disgraced Indiana's name" and that he would ask Governor Harry G. Leslie for troops, if necessary, when the Bono rioters go on trial at Newport, Ind. the latter part of September.

The two Ogden assistants reported that the law enforcement authorities of Vermillion County were "dormant" and lacking in initiative in pressing the probe and that "whatever has been done in investigating the Bono riot and bringing its perpetrators to justice has been accomplished by the State of Indiana through the attorney general's office and not by Vermillion County."

"The sheriff and prosecutor of Vermillion County are not antagonistic," Hufsmith said. "They are very polite and do everything we ask them to do but do nothing of their own initiative."

Referring to the Herrin cars that are being traced Hufsmith said: "If we find that the owners of these cars are coal miners we will start extradition at once."

The deputies told Ogden that union officials including the national organizer of the United Mine Workers of America made overtures to the Bono coal miners that they would be able to "fix them up with the union if the charges against the 58 rioters were dropped."

"Everyone of the 58 men under arrest in connection with this riot is a member and in good standing of the United Mine Workers of America," Hufsmith charged. "One of the leaders of the rioters was Pearl Minette, of Clinton, Ind., an official of the union."

Hufsmith said that notwithstanding all the threats 42 of the cooperative miners were at work at the Bono mine yesterday.

FUTURE EDISON IS MODEST LAD

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(INC)—"The future Edison" might also be called "the typical American boy."

He's modest, unassuming, straightforward, this slim, blonde youngster from out of the West who won the Edison scholarship. Wilbur Huston answered fifty-seven formidable technical and ethical questions as calmly as though it were all in the day's work.

Thomas A. Edison, Henry Ford, Col. Charles Lindbergh, George Eastman, and Dr. S. W. Stratton of M. I. T. prepared the questions, and they were posers—designed to select the "boy who shows the most promise of becoming Edison's successor."

But Wilbur Brotherton Huston of Seattle, refused to admit there can be a successor to Thomas A. Edison and said, "I am not foolish enough to think I can be as great as he is."

The pick of the picked boys from forty-eight states and one district is sixteen years old and handsome. He still can't believe that six of America's most distinguished citizens found his examination paper worth a 92 grading, making it possible for him to study at any college he wishes as Thomas Edison's protégé, with all expenses paid for four years.

He has chosen Massachusetts Tech and hopes to enter this fall, specializing in electrical engineering.

SYNOPSIS

"Welcome Home," a musical comedy trying out on the road, is stranded. Willie Durant, the financial backer, is friendly with Nita French, the star, but, strangely enough, refuses to put up any more money. Behind Nita's back he is attentive to Kitty, the check room girl with stage aspirations, and induces her father, "Dad" Malone, stage doorman, and her sweetheart, Jimmy, head usher, to invest their life savings in the piece. Jerry Connolly, the manager, is unable to pay salaries. Sam Bloom, scenery builder, comes to take the sets. Jimmy suggests robbing the box office, but Jerry vetoes the idea.

"Of course he will." Without giving him any opportunity to protest further, Sarah dragged Bloom along with her.

Jerry heaved a sigh of relief. "Well, that staves off calamity for awhile, anyhow." He began pacing back and forth, still trying to figure some way out of his difficulty.

A blare of music finished up the specialty number, and the twins came running off. Back for their bows, then off again. A soft crooning melody rose and fell as the curtain went up on the second scene of the first act to reveal an old plantation with a white pillared,

Kitty Makes a Quick Decision

Southern mansion gracing one side of the stage. Now the wings were cluttered with moving forms rushing pell mell, falling into step, and swinging out in front of the audience.

Sounds of words drifting back through the wings fell on deaf ears. Jerry still walked the floor, looking for the light that would break through this darkness beyond which there seemed to be no dawn. If only some way out of the difficulty would present itself. Durant had told him more or less definitely last night that he was through with the show for good and all. Jerry had talked and argued and pleaded, but to no avail.

"What we don't see doesn't hurt us."

"What we don't know doesn't hurt us."

The voices on the stage took up the slow waltz tune.

"And if our faith won't desert us."

We'll see the sun through the rain; Please don't take away my dreams...."

"Don't take away my dreams," Jerry muttered to himself. A lot of dreams he had left, he reflected bitterly, and there wasn't any sunshine in this storm. Here he was, part owner of a show that he was certain had every possibility of becoming a Broadway success, and he couldn't even road it in to the Main Stem. There wasn't one person left from whom he could borrow any more money. He was sunk.

"Say, listen, Jerry," the voice of Jimmy interrupted his silent soliloquy. "I got an idea to keep Sam from getting the dough in the box-office."

"Spill it," Jerry commanded abruptly.

"While Sam's out there in the wings I could hold up the box-office and take out the money," Jimmy began eagerly.

"Oh, for the love of Pete," Jerry caught the boy and shook him. "One more crack like that out of you and I'll schlock you down. What a wiseheimer you turned out to be!"

"It'd be a cinch," Jimmy protested, his eyes shining. "I could do it easy enough; it wouldn't take much to throw a scare into George. And then, Kitty and me and Dad, and all of us'd be fixed. Gosh, Jerry, it would get you out of a terrible jam."

"Yeah, and you'd spend the rest of your life in jail, you poor sap. Just let me catch you trying to pull a stunt like that. You let that box-office strictly alone. You hear me?"

"Well, I didn't say I was going to do it," Jimmy murmured, crestfallen. "I just suggested it," he added apologetically.

"Well, it's like most of your suggestions—terrible!" Jerry snorted. "Forget it, kid."

Jimmy retired a few paces away to nurse his disappointment. His plan to him had seemed simple enough. He could just give George a good scare and take the money. After all, the money belonged to the show, he told himself. If it weren't for the show the money wouldn't be in the box-office, and after Broadway had set its stamp of approval upon the piece there would be plenty to pay back the house management. Still, he didn't want to go to jail, and yet it all seemed so logical and easy. The loss of his own hundred dollars he could bear, but he had to think of Kitty and Dad.

As Jimmy was revolving the idea in his mind a light step sounded behind him and Kitty laid a hand on his arm.

"Hello, Jerry," the girl greeted the manager. "Gee, we've got a peach of a house! I checked eighty more coats than last night," she smiled happily.

"Must be colder out," Jerry remarked unfeelingly without stopping his nervous prowling.

"Br-r-r! Grouch!" Kitty rejoined tartly.

"Sorry, Kitty," Jerry apologized. "I'm just worried." He strolled away aimlessly.

Kitty looked after the manager's departing figure and then turned to Jimmy, a slightly puzzled expression in her blue eyes. "What's the matter," she demanded. "Jerry looks as though someone had stolen his last nickel."

"It's just about as bad as that," Jimmy told her. "Sam Bloom's taking the scenery. We're all washed up, Kitty."

"What!" she gasped. "You mean—you mean there's no hope of Broadway? Oh, Jimmy!" Her eyes filled with tears. She caught hold of the boy, staring at him as though trying to fathom the true meaning of his words.

Jimmy nodded and swallowed hard. "Don't worry, Kitty. Durant promised to see us through when he got us to put up the money. Something's sure to turn up."

Kitty shook her head. Why, if Bloom took the scenery away that meant that the show would absolutely have to close. And there was Dad with all his little savings gone. And Jimmy's few pennies. Surely, there must be some way out of the situation. She couldn't let this terrible catastrophe fall upon her father's head. She didn't mind the loss so much herself. She was young and she could work, but it was Dad! And the fact that Durant had promised to take care of them didn't reassure her. She was beginning to distrust his motives. It hadn't been for the love of Dad and Jimmy that he had sold them a piece of the show.

"But—but if the show closes, Jimmy, what are we going to do?" she demanded, still clinging to the boy. "I don't care so much about myself, but it's Dad. What are we going to do about him?"

"I don't know, Kitten," Jimmy patted her shoulder tenderly. "But no matter what happens, we're going to stick together like we promised that day at the beach. You remember?"

"Uh-huh," Kitty nodded solemnly. "I'm still wearing the ring." She held up her hand, displaying the plain silver band on her little finger. "Through thick and thin," she read, turning the ring around.

"Through thick and thin," Jimmy repeated. "And it sure looks pretty thin now, honey."

They stood in silence, each looking at the little ring that meant so much to them. If she could only think of something to do. Kitty sighed. Some way to get Durant! That name brought a rush of memories to throng her mind. Durant was interested in her. At least, he had made a number of advances, all of which Kitty had ward off without the slightest compunction.

But now the situation was serious. Some one had to act, and act quickly. And no one seemed to be able to think of anything to do. Suppose she talked to Durant. Perhaps she might play up to him a little. She looked at Jimmy thoughtfully out of the corner of her eye. Jimmy wouldn't like that, she knew, and she really loved him. But it wouldn't be anything personal, she assured herself. It would be for the sake of every one concerned.

Jimmy's arm slipped about her waist and he drew her close to him, his lips pressed against her cheek.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 4.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they? Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you" (Matt. 6:26, 31, 33).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Are we benefited by praying? Yes, the desire which goes forth hungering after righteousness is blessed of our Father, and it does not return unto us void. . . . Prayer cannot change the Science of being, but it tends to bring us into harmony with it" (p. 2).

THE GRANADA

"Do Your Duty" Sunday Comedy; Initial Talking Program Tuesday

An interesting photoplay will be on view at the Granada Theatre this week end when Charles Murray appears in "Do Your Duty," Sunday only. The picture is said to be one of the best comedies this star has ever appeared, as it is a story true to life, depicting the duties of a cop which makes merriment plentiful as it unfolds.

Murray is framed by crooks in the story. He appears to have been drunk while on duty and is demoted. Then he catches the crooks and regains his lost glory. But meanwhile his daughter is being married and he hides his temporary disgrace by subtle maneuvers. In these he is abetted by a Scotch tailor and finally wins out with nobody in his family the wiser.

There is some great "kid" comedy in this picture in addition to that supplied by the grownups in support of the star who is a fun host in himself.

Talkies Tuesday

A new and greater policy, sound and talking pictures, will open Tuesday, August 6, with one of the best all-talking programs that could be selected, Morton Downey, the golden voiced tenor, in "Mother's Boy," a 100 percent all singing, all talking, gripping humoresque, is the first star to appear on a talkie screen in Greencastle.

Added to the opening talking program Tuesday and Wednesday will be an all-talking comedy, "At the Dentists" with George LeMaire, which is a scream from start to finish.

THE VONCASTLE Buddy Rogers Stars In

"The River of Romance"

He was branded a coward and a weakling because he would not fight a duel according to the custom of the South. He was deserted in love by the girl to whom he had been betrothed. He was an outcast from the circle of Southern society in which he lived in the early 1840's.

Yet, he fought back bravely and won the confidence of his friends and family—and gained the true love of the girl who never deserted her trust in his ability to make good.

That in substance, is the role portrayed by Charles "Buddy" Rogers in his newest Paramount picture, "River of Romance," which comes to the Voncastle Theatre for 2 days beginning on Sunday.

It is the most colorful part Buddy has been assigned since his phenomenal success in Paramount's "Wings." He is seen as the central heroic figure in the picture, which is based upon the tremendously popular story, "Magnolia" by Booth Tarkington.

Mary Brian is the leading female player in the production. It is her first appearance in support of "America's Boy Friend" in a dialog.

Bailey and Johnson were recently released from the penal farm, having served a term for breaking into the north school building in this city. Bailey was married shortly after leaving the penal farm.—Martinsville Reporter.

THREE DIE IN PLANE CRASH

ARMONK, N. Y., Aug. 3—(INS)—Dr. John A. Clarke, coroner today began an investigation into the crash of an airplane near here last evening in which three men, one believed to be a millionaire, were killed after the plane went into a tailspin.

The victims were Ambrose Monell, 23, of New York and London; Francis B. Gundry, of Cleveland; and J. L. Cagnani, 27, the pilot, of New York City. Monell was believed to be the son of the late Ambrose Monell, nickel manufacturer, who died leaving an estate of $20,000,000. Inquiries at his home in New York City revealed he left there yesterday to take a pleasure flight with a man named Gundry.

Eyewitnesses said one wing of the plane collapsed as the pilot was putting the plane through a loop. The ship fell like a plummet for 2,500 feet and crashed into a patch of woods just over the Connecticut state line.

MANDELL KEEPS BOXING TITLE

CHICAGO, Aug. 3—(INS)—A miniature Babe Ruth swinging in a home run groove for ten innings but getting only singles that were too scattered to win—that was Tony Canzoneri's bid for the lightweight title against Sammy Mandell last night at the Chicago Stadium.

But while he failed to gain the official nod the squat little New Yorker had the satisfaction of forcing an overtrained champion to the limit and was good enough to be nominated by Referee Dave Barry as the winner.

Phil Collins and Eddie Klein, the judges, saved the title for the Rockford sheik. Klein gave the challenger only two rounds and called two even. Collins awarded the champion five rounds, Canzoneri three and voted two even. Barry had Mandell winning only two rounds—the third and fourth—named the challenger as the winner of four and called four even.

The official decision seemed to please a majority of the 24,000 spectators who rooted for Mandell because he was a home bred champion defending his laurels against a New Yorker. However, Canzoneri had some friends in the house and he received thunderous applause as he left the ring.

Had the distance been fifteen rounds there probably would be a new champion today. Canzoneri caught Mandell on an off night and all of the title-holder's ring generalship was required to stand off the bullish charges of the challenger. Something dulled the usually keen edge of the champion's slashing and stabbing left and he frequently had to hold after failing to break up Tony's rushes.

Whether it was the grind of talking off weight or the long siege of training, Mandell was not nearly as strong on defense as he was against Jimmy McLarnin last year.

His marvelous boxing skill alone carried him through. There were times when he slugged it out with Canzoneri and took his share of punishment but his marked superiority lay in his ducking, blocking and countering and in making the challenger miss.

Proving what thousands already know . . . that here is America's finest medium-priced automobile

The information in the accompanying chart was compiled by comparing the Oakland All-American with twenty other medium-priced cars, thirteen of the twenty higher than Oakland in price. It proves to everyone who will read what thousands of Oakland owners already know—that today's Oakland All-American Six is America's finest medium-priced automobile.

Only a few comparisons are given here. There are scores more which we will be glad to show you. Come in to see them. And while you are here, drive today's Oakland All-American Six.

What these features mean to you	How Oakland compares with the field
Large piston displacement is needed to develop high power at moderate engine speed. Moderate engine speed is an important factor in the life of a car.	Oakland's 228 cubic inch piston displacement is greater than 12 of the 20 cars in its price field. Of the 8 remaining cars, 7 are higher priced than Oakland.
Fisher bodies are famous for style, luxury and roominess. In addition, they hold such advantages as sturdy hardwood and steel construction, VV windshield, side cow ventilation and adjustable drivers' seats.	Only Oakland and two other cars in the field offer bodies by Fisher. And one of the two is nearly $100 higher in price than Oakland. Of the 18 cars which have less-known bodies, 11 are priced above the All-American Six.
